Dear Miss Hadden

We regretted missing you but will call again some time. There was nothing important -- just intended to say "hello". There was some misunderstanding about the phone number your friend gave us. We supposed it was your house but it proved to be the Library which didnt answer. We went on to S.F. and called on a friend who has a large collection of Engine + Boat pictures. He goes to work at midnight so his wife drove us all down town at 11 P.M. At 8.30 next morn. she called for us and we all went out to their house for breakfast. Did
